What?

Make the whole community a FUN and INCLUSIVE learning environment by creating a Hub-space where service workers merge their knowledge, experiences and efforts to create educational activities and projects.

Why?

Service workers are experts in their communities. They are role models and the leaders of tomorrow. Empowering service workers is a key step for achieving constructive longterm impacts. Many community members believe in positive change and need to be empowered.

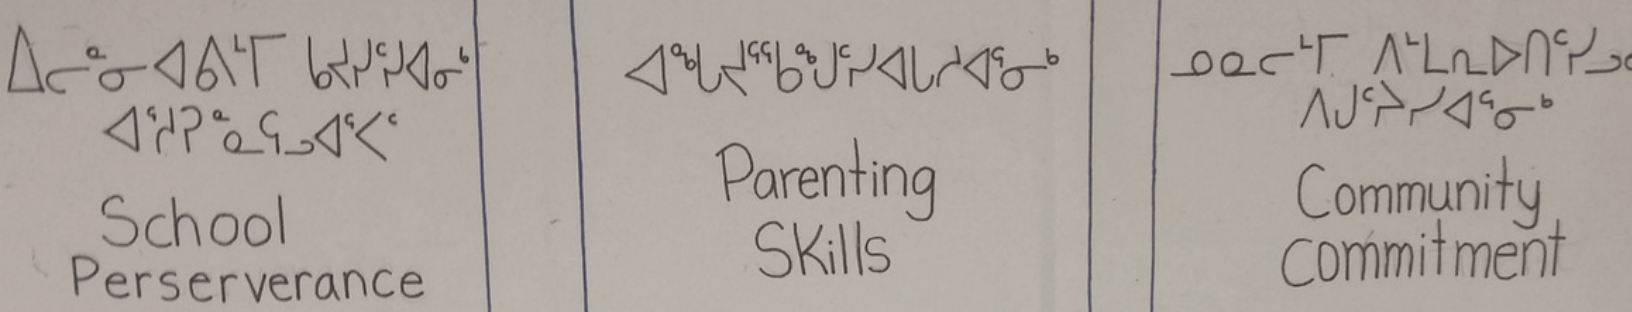

Kangiqsualujuaq elder

"School is important, but the school of life is the most important. We learn throughout all the things we do. Through this process you have learned a lot."

McCombie Anannack

"Share my opinion, get better at that. We usually don't have time or space for that at work."

COLLABORATION AND PARTNERSHIP WITH THE COMMUNITIES

3 YEARS / 8-12 WEEKS PER YEAR / BOOTCAMP / TRAINING AND ACTIVITIES / EVENT

How?

TRAINING AND SKILLS

N-YEL values the importance of traditional and modern ways of knowing. As a group, participants will be empowered to identify common goals and needs in terms of training and elder, community member and outside expert invitation to promote the sharing of knowledge and skills.

Learn by doing. Learn by observation.

Learn by trying, Learn with passion.

ACTIVITIES

Activities can be fun AND educational at the same time. Those two characteristics go hand in hand.

Let's be doers. Let's create activities. Get to action and create motivation.
